

I strongly believe in internet neutrality. It represents the will of the people the best, and I also the best for the majority.